What's In The Gallery Shop...

Denise Faulkner Watercolour artist

Denise Faulkner Lyre, Lyre, Pants on Fire!, 2021, watercolour on cotton rag paper.

Born in Sydney Denise Faulkner was a real city girl. ...or so she thought. She completed a degree in Fine Arts at the national art school. She exhibited her art works in Sydney while working at the Art Gallery of NSW gallery shop as a book buyer where she combined her great love of art and books. All the while Denise enrolled in courses from psychology to jewellery-making to creative writing.

Eight years ago, Denise; her partner and their cat move permanently to a bush block outside Mudgee. Where she returned to painting.

Denise has become mesmerised by all the different types of birds and wildlife around her. Working from photographs Denise would make drawings and paintings. "Each of our regular avian visitors would give me insight into their personalities," she said.

Denise paints the local wildlife into still life situations capturing their personality and behaviour. Using layers of watercolour paint and building up the layers to mix colours straight onto handmade paper to get the right depth of colour.

Denise's paintings are humorous, whimsical and nostalgic reminding of a time when we enjoyed to take tea, eat cake, watch the birds, and hunt for The Wildflowers.

Denise Faulkner's prints, calendars and cards are available at the Hazelhurst Gallery Shop.

From the President

Recently the gardens provided the perfect back drop for an exhibition of 20 Artworks in the Gardens. This exhibition coincided with Hazelhurst 20 Years. One of these artworks Transit, a sculpture made by local Bundeena artist Leanne Thompson, stood out to the gallery curator. The sculpture made from cordon steel and sandstone, maps the journey of the ferry route between Bundeena and Cronulla.

The Friend's committee was approached by the gallery director Belinda Hanrahan and curator Carrie Kibbler to consider purchasing Transit for the gardens.

Transit was purchased and gifted to the Arts Centre in celebration of its 20th's anniversary. This was made possible through the generous support of our members yearly subscriptions and other fundraising events.

Although the gallery doesn't have a permanent collection it was agreed the sculpture Transit was a perfect fit for the gardens and complements the other sculptures already there. The sculpture has been placed at the gallery entrance sitting on the pavers. Next time you visit Hazelhurst why not take a stroll around the garden path and enjoy this special garden with its mural wall and sculptures.

Wishing everyone a safe summer break and a happy and hopeful 2022.

FRIENDS GIFT TO HAZELHURST

Transit by Leanne Thompson

Where did the idea for your sculpture Transit come from?

Transit is based on drawings I made of the cyclic movement of the Bundeena Ferry in the context of place and the more universal idea of 'making' art.

What does this mean to you having your sculpture purchased and installed in the gardens at Hazlehurst?

I am really thrilled and gratified that FOH has purchased the work. It gives me a real sense of accomplishment and I'm so pleased that the work can be appreciated by a wider audience. I have exhibited at Hazelhurst many times and as I am not represented by a commercial gallery, Hazelhurst feels like my home-base. It is really very special that the work will live here.

FRIENDS Archie Challenge

Thank you to Angela Iliadis & Noel Grannall for submitting portraits to the Friends Archie Challenge.

This is a portrait of our grandson Thomas who is two and a half years old. He loves the colours pink and purple. He is a very energetic little boy and my husband, and I love him dearly.

Process: A photo of Thomas at the park was cropped and put through the Smart Photo Editor programme. This programme created some effects. The image was printed on pastel paper and then I used soft pastels and a charcoal pencil to complete the portrait. Lastly, I sprayed the portrait with Fixative for some protection.

Image: Angela Iliadis, Thomas, print on pastel paper, pastel, charcoal pencil.

Noel said, "It's a fair attempt and does actually look like me."

I attended last term's Wednesday morning painting class at Hazelhurst which had a focus on portraits." This is when I painted this self-portrait.
